BELOW THE JAMES LIES DIXIE — by Pierce Rouse, Jr. — To reach the heart of Virginia, board the little ferry at Jamestown and cross the quiet James to Surry County. This is the land called Southside. It is a quiet world of small farms and pine forests, fragrant with memories of the War Between the States.

From ancient Surry, author Parke Rouse Jr. takes you on a meandering tour of Southside's byways. From the broad James southward to the North Carolina line, he points out the whimsical charms of this unyielding land.

Illustrated with old prints and original sketches by William Gravitt and captures the spirit of a romantic land.

This book was given in memory of Mrs. L. Crawley, Mrs. Russell Paulette, and Miss Ada O'Brien by the Appomattox Chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy.

THE MONEY GAME — by Adam Smith —This book is about how the Money Game is played and how the players really behave.

Money is such a serious subject that it is surprising to find a treatment of it that is so much fun. For this witty and entertaining book not only catalogs some irreverent irregular Rules; it also offers a unique view of Wall Street and the Money Game and its players.

TWELVE CITIES — by John Gunther — In this book Gunther describes in characteristic scope and detail what these twelve cities are like, giving an estimate of their beam, bulk, sights, problems, mood, tempo, color, and distinctions, as well as dealing with the structure of their politics and government, and, as always, with the men who run things.

A fresh, revealing inside book about: London, Paris, Brussels, Rome, Hamburg, Vienna, Warshaw, Moscow, Jerusalem, Beirut, Amman, Tokyo.

THE VALACHI PAPERS — by Peter Maas —One of the most electrifying and significant documents on crime ever written — the real story behind the Cosa Nostra as seen through the eyes of a man who lived on the inside of America's underworld for more than thirty years: the notorious Mafia informer Joseph Valachi, whose testimony was hailed as "the biggest intelligence breakthrough yet in combating organized crime and racketeering in the United States."

Jaycee Joltings

By: Ronnie Lewis

The Appomattox County Jaycees have been a busy lot these last two weeks. Looks like their work is never done. Our Highway Safety Stop on Labor Day was successful, however, there are still a number of safety flares yet to be sold. We had an opportunity to talk with many out of town travelers that day and received many favorable comments on our effort.

We would like to thank all of you who have contributed to our "Flood Relief Fund". Our bank account is growing each day. The "Flood Relief Fund" is a joint project of the Jaycees and the Rescue Squad, so anyone desiring to donate money toward this fine project can do so by contacting any Jaycee or Rescue Squad member.

About thirty boys turned out Saturday for our "Jaycee Baseball Grand Slam" contest and many carried home trophies they were extremely proud of. Myself, as well as many of my fellow Jaycees, feel that the Youth Envolvement Projects the most rewarding of the many various Jaycee projects we sponsor. The Ford "Punt, Pass and Kick" contest, which we co-sponsor, will be our next project of this nature.

Last Saturday evening the Jaycees held their annual membership dinner meeting, the purpose of which is to recruit new Jaycee members. This year we had three guests and all three joined our ranks that night. Tom Maxwell and Robert Martin of Appomattox and David Almond of Concord are our new members. So gentlemen, welcome to the Jaycee's.

A thought in closing: "Kindness is the oil that takes the friction out of life."

Guard Unit Builds Bridge

A Virginia National Guard unit from Gate City moved into Nelson County over the week end to erect a 142-foot-long temporary bridge across the Tye River on flood-damaged Route 665.

The State Department of Highways said that arrangements were made for the 1031st Engineer Company to install the bridge.

Approximately 75 members of the company, under the command of Capt. Joseph M. Blackburn arrived Saturday morning for the project.

John M. Wray, Jr., the Department of Highways' maintenance engineer, said that more than 20 other temporary bridges approximately 30 to 50 feet long already have been erected by state maintenance crews and contractors' employes to provide traffic service where existing structures were washed out or damaged beyond use in Nelson, Amherst, Rockbridge and Albemarle Counties.

Snoopy Gives The Word

Whether everybody agrees with Margaret's sentiments that "Happiness Is Going Back To School" is open to question, but for these third graders of Mrs. Ella Gordon at Appomattox Elementary there are all of the favorite characters of the "Peanuts" comic strip to keep them company for awhile. The art work was done by Virginia Gordon, daughter of the teacher, and her cousin, Claudia Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gordon, Jr. "Snoopy", the dog, says "Blah!" "Linus" says, "Education is Security." "Peanuts" says "Good Grief!" and "Pig Pen" merely signs. Oh well, approximately 170 school days from now, it will be vacation time again for the nine girls in the class: Abby Dunning, Brenda Gilpin, Wanda Gail Lewis, Carol Martin, Freda Martin, Donna Netherland, Teresa Powell, Virginia Ragland and Hazel Woody; and the boys, R. L. Cordell, J. C. Davidson, James Dixon, David Gallier, Otis Goin, William Hodges, David Litchford, Lynn Litchford, Myron McCoy, Floyd McCormick, Steven Marsh, Ricky Mayberry, Robbie Thompson and Hugh Bagg.
